COLLEGIATE DEPARTMENT.

TIME AND CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION.

The regular examination for admission to the Freshman Class will take place on Thursday and Friday of the week preceding Commencement. There will be a second examination on the first day of the first term. In special cases applicants may be examined at other times.

Candidates for advanced standing will be subjected to a general examination in the studies already pursued by the class they propose to enter. No student can be entered as a candidate for matriculation unless he produces testimonials of good character.

Students coming from other colleges and bringing certificates of admission in accordance with the established custom of colleges, may, upon proof of their qualifications, be admitted to corresponding standing in this College.

The success of the student in college depends so much upon a thorough preparatory course, that the authorities of the college are compelled to be more strict in their requirements than formerly.

Candidates for the Freshman Class are often very deficient in the rudiments of an English education, as well as in the grammars of the Latin and Greek languages. Thorough preparatory training is necessary to enable students to pursue the prescribed College Courses with pleasure and profit.

For the Course for the Degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class are examined in the following subjects, but real equivalents for any of the following requirements will be accepted:

Latin.—Grammar; Three Books of Cæsar's Gallic War.

Greek.—Grammar; Reader, or Two Books of Xenophon's Anabasis.

Mathematics.—Arithmetic; Algebra to Quadratics.

English.—Grammar; Descriptive and Physical Geography; History of the United States.

For the Course for the Degree of Bachelor of Science.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class are examined in all the studies specified above, Greek excepted.

For the Select Course.

Students who wish to pursue a select Course, without entering as candidates for a Degree, must undergo an examination in such subjects as are preparatory to the studies which they desire to pursue in College.

These branches are pursued under the same laws and regulations as those of the prescribed courses, but no degrees or honors are conferred.

POST-GRADUATE COURSE FOR THE DEGREE OF MASTER OF ARTS.

By the action of the Trustees at their meeting in 1884, the Degree of Master of Arts is not conferred, as formerly, upon Bachelors after three years' standing, but upon the successful completion of a course of study selected from a number prescribed for election by the Faculty. For information on these courses of study, apply to the President of the College.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

GOVERNMENT.

The College is under the supervision of a Board of Trustees.

The students, in all the departments, are governed by the Faculty in accordance with regulations laid down by the Board of Trustees.

This government is of a mild, but decided nature, and is generally effected:—

1st. By persistent and stringent efforts to develop and establish the strictest principles, and to awaken and stimulate an active interest in the daily exercises.

2d. By honorable mention in the class-room, chapel, catalogue, and on public occasions.

3d. By general and particular counsel from the President, whenever the same may be needed.

4th. By a system of demerits.

5th. By probation.

6th. By suspension.

7th. By expulsion as a last resort.

MATRICULATION.

Every student having completed his fourteenth year, and having a good record of deportment, is formally matriculated two weeks from the date of his admission.

REPORTS.

Reports respecting the conduct and scholarship of the students are sent to the parents and guardians at the close of each term. These show the number of absences from recitation, the class standing, and such other facts as may be deemed proper to communicate.

MORAL CULTURE.

All the students are required to be present at the religious exercises, which are held each morning in the College Chapel, and to attend services in the College Church every Lord's Day, unless permitted to attend some other church designated by the parent or guardian.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The College year is divided into three terms. The first term begins on the first school day of October and ends the last day of December. The second term begins on the first school day of January and ends the last of March. The third term begins on the first school day of April and ends with the Commencement.

EXAMINATIONS.

Examinations, oral and written, take place at the close of each term. No student is permitted to absent himself from examination. Students unavoidably prevented from being present will be examined by special appointment before being allowed to continue with their respective classes.

LIBRARIES.

The Library consists of about 6,350 volumes, to which all the students have access. Contributions are from time to time made by publishers and friends of the College. Besides the College Library, there are libraries belonging to the two Literary Societies, reserved for the use of their respective members.

SIFLEY MUSEUM OF NATURAL HISTORY.

The collections already made are illustrative of Natural History, Archæology, Ethnology, and are arranged in such a way as to render them accessible both to students and visitors. The College affords a secure depository for objects of value and curiosity, and it is, therefore hoped that frequent gifts will be made to the Cabinet and Museum.

READING ROOM.

The reading Room connected with the College contains some of the best periodicals and newspapers of the day, kept on file for the use of the students.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are two Literary Societies connected with the College —the Phrenakosmian and the Excelsior. A good opportunity is herein afforded for improvement in composition, debate and elocution. The halls appropriated to the use of the Societies are large and neatly furnished. The Societies meet once a week. These Societies are considered a part of the educational appliances of the College, and all matriculated students are required to join one of them.

Y. M. C. A.

There is an active Young Men's Christian Association in the College. Meetings are held every Saturday night in the Chapel and Bible classes every Sunday morning. The exercises are varied and calculated to foster a devotional spirit, to increase knowledge of the great interests of the Church, and to stimulate the efforts of the students in the formation of Christian character. A special feature of this Association is a committee, whose business it is to meet new students upon their arrival at the railroad depots and to render them such advice and assistance as may be needed to make them comfortable in their new surroundings. The Faculty look upon this Association as a valuable aid in checking disorder and the prevention of such mischievous conduct as hazing.

LOCATION.

The College is located at Newberry, S. C., a healthy and beautiful town, in one of the best sections of the State. Intermediate between the extreme Northern and Southern sections of the country, this locality especially commends itself to Southern students. Newberry is noted for the intelligence and refinement of its citizens. The College building is situated on an eminence overlooking the town, and, in its ample and pleasant accommodations, is unsurpassed by any building for similar purposes in the State.

REMARKS.

The instructions and regulations of the College are such as to secure the application of the student to study, to shield him from the perils of temptation, and to promote a moral deportment. Parents sending their sons to Newberry College may do so with the assurance that every thing will be done to promote their highest intellectual and moral training.

It is highly important that students enter College at the beginning of the session. In some cases it is impossible to make up the loss occasioned by an absence of only a few days. In view of the injurious effects of all absences, either at the beginning or at any other period of the session, upon the standing and proficiency of the student, parents and guardians are earnestly requested not to encourage, or even sanction, such absence without urgent reasons.

No student is allowed to leave the town during the session without the permission of the President, nor to withdraw from the College without the consent of the Faculty, on the written authority of his parent or guardian.

All necessary books and stationery may be obtained in the town at publishers' prices.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

Scholarships have been founded as follows:

The C. H. Suber scholarships, two, $68.75 each, by a bequest of C. H. Suber, Esq., Newberry, S. C.

WANTS OF THE COLLEGE.

The design of Newberry College is to give deserving students of moderate means the best opportunity for thorough education and true culture. There are, however, many deserving young men, earnestly desiring to fit themselves for usefulness, who cannot meet even the small expenses of the College.

The College needs additional scholarships for assisting poor students. We earnestly ask that provision be made for other scholarships.

It is imperative, also, that the Endowment Fund of the College be largely increased. In this respect, it is just and reasonable that the College should be placed upon a firm basis.

The College needs physical and chemical apparatus, money and books for the Library, statues, pictures and other works of art and specimens of all kinds for the Museum.

It gives us great pleasures to announce to the friends of the College that the new building (Science Hall) for the accommodation of the Library, Museum and Laboratories is now complete and ready for occupancy. It has been handsomely finished, and would be a credit to any institution, but now a most keenly felt want is the necessary means with which to suitably furnish and thoroughly equip the Museum and Laboratories and to procure shelving for the Library. A great obstacle in the way of obtaining the highest success in the work of the scientific department is the insufficiency of geological and mineralogical specimens in the Museum and the lack of necessary apparatus in the chemical and physical laboratories. We take this opportunity to again appeal to your generosity and beg that the new building, of which all friends of the College can justly be proud, may not be suffered to fall short of thorough equipment when the present emergency could easily be met by a little further exercise of your liberality.

COLLEGIATE DEPARTMENT.

TIME AND CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION.

The regular examination for admission to the Freshman Class will be held on Friday of the week preceding Commencement. There will be a second examination on the first day of the first term. In special cases applicants may be examined at other times.

Candidates for advanced standing will be subjected to a general examination in the studies already pursued by the class they propose to enter. No student can be entered as a candidate for matriculation unless he can produce testimonials of good character.

Students who come from other colleges and bring certificates of admission in accordance with the established custom of colleges, may, upon proof of their qualifications, be admitted to corresponding standing in this College.

Candidates for the Freshman Class are often very deficient in the rudiments of an English education, as well as in the grammars of the Latin and Greek languages. Thorough preparatory training is necessary to enable students to pursue the prescribed College Courses with pleasure and profit.

For the Course for the Degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class are examined in the following subjects, but real equivalents of any of the following requirements will be accepted:

Latin—Grammar; Three Books of Cæsar's Gallic War.

Greek—Grammar; Reader, or Two Books of Xenophon's Anabasis.

Mathematics—Arithmetic; Algebra to Quadratics.

English—Grammar; Descriptive and Physical Geography; History of the United States.

For the Course for the Degree of Bachelor of Science.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class are examined in all the studies specified above, except Greek.

For Select Courses.

A student who wishes to pursue a select course without entering as a candidate for a Degree will be examined in such subjects as are preparatory to the studies which he desires to pursue in College.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

GOVERNMENT.

The College is under the supervision of a Board of Trustees.

The students, in all the departments, are governed by the Faculty in accordance with regulations laid down by the Board of Trustees.

This government is of a mild but decided nature, and is generally effected:—

1st. By persistent and stringent efforts to develop and establish the strictest principles, and to awaken and stimulate an active interest in the daily exercises.

2nd. By honorable mention in the class-room, chapel, catalogue, and on public occasions.

3d. By general and particular counsel from the President, whenever the same may be needed.

4th. By a system of demerits.

5th. By probation.

6th. By suspension.

7th. By expulsion as a last resort.

MATRICULATION.

Every student having completed his fourteenth year, and having a good record of deportment, is formally matriculated two weeks from the date of his admission.

REPORTS.

Reports respecting the conduct and scholarship of the students are sent to the parents and guardians at the close of each term. These show the number of absences from recitations, the class standing, and such other facts as may be deemed proper to communicate.

MORAL CULTURE.

All the students are required to be present at the religious exercises which are held every morning in the College Chapel, and to attend services in the College Church every Lord's Day, unless permitted to attend some other church designated by the parent or guardian.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The College year is divided into three terms. The first term begins on the first school day of October and ends the last day of December. The second term begins on the first school day of January and ends the last day of March. The third term begins on the first school day of April and ends with the Commencement.

EXAMINATIONS.

Examinations are held regularly at the end of each term; but any professor may appoint an examination at such other time as he may deem proper. All students are required to attend examinations. The examination is counted as a part of the work of the term in which it falls. Any student who is absent from an examination will be examined by special appointment of the professor in charge; and his connection with his class will be conditional until this has been done.

LIBRARIES.

The Library consists of about 7,000 volumes, to which all the students have access. Contributions are made from time to time by publishers and by friends of the College. Besides the College Library, there are libraries belonging to the two Literary Societies, reserved for the use of their respective members.

SIFLEY MUSEUM OF NATURAL HISTORY.

The collections already made are illustrative of Natural History, Archæology, Ethnology, and are arranged in such a way as to render them accessible to students and visitors. The College affords a secure depository for objects of value and curiosity, and it is, therefore, hoped that frequent gifts will be made to the Cabinet and Museum.

READING ROOM.

The Reading Room connected with the College contains some of the best periodicals and newspapers of the day, kept on file for the use of the students.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

The Phrenakosmian and Excelsior Literary Societies meet weekly in large and elegantly furnished halls, in the main building. They afford their members an excellent opportunity to become acquainted with the orderly conduct of deliberative bodies, to acquire a knowledge of parliamentary law, and to improve in composition, debate and elocution. The Faculty is so much impressed with their educational value that every matriculated student is required to become a member of one of them.

Y. M. C. A.

There is an active Young Men's Christian Association in the College, which meets every Saturday night in the hall of the association. Bible classes are conducted every Sunday morning. The exercises are varied and calculated to foster a devotional spirit, to increase knowledge of the great interests of the Church, and to stimulate the efforts of the students in the formation of Christian character. A special feature of this Association is a committee, whose business it is to meet new students upon their arrival at the railroad stations and to render them such advice and assistance as may be needed to make them comfortable in their new surroundings. The Faculty looks upon this Association as a valuable aid in cultivating a spirit of good order among the students.

LOCATION.

Newberry is a healthy and beautiful town, situated 42 miles north-west of Columbia, in one of the best sections of the State. It is noted for the refinement and intelligence of its citizens. An artesian well furnishing an abundant supply of pure water has just been completed, and steps are taking to establish a system of water works and sewerage. Intermediate between the extreme northern and southern sections of the country, with a climate mild and healthful, this locality especially commends itself as a place of residence during the College session, embracing the winter months. The College buildings are in the midst of beautiful and extensive grounds on an eminence overlooking the town.

REMARKS.

The instructions and regulations of the College are such as to secure the application of the student to study, to shield him from the perils of temptation, and to promote a moral deportment. Parents sending their sons to Newberry College may do so with the assurance that everything will be done to promote their highest intellectual and moral training.

It is highly important that students enter College at the beginning of the session. In some cases it is impossible to make up the loss occasioned by an absence of only a few days. In view of the injurious effects of all absences, either at the beginning or at any other period of the session, upon the standing and proficiency of the student, parents and guardians are earnestly requested not to encourage, or even sanction, any absence without urgent reasons.

No student is allowed to leave the town during the session without the permission of the President, or to withdraw from the College without the consent of the Faculty, on the written authority of his parent or guardian.

All necessary books and stationery may be obtained in the town at publishers' prices.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

Scholarships have been founded as follows:

The C. H. Suber Scholarships, two, $68.75 each, by a bequest of C. H. Suber, Esq., Newberry, S. C.

The James Aiken Keller Scholarship, $70, by Mrs. Frances E. Keller, of Orangeburg County, S. C.

The Robert L. McCaughrin Scholarship, $70, by O. B. Mayer, M. D.

Orangeburg Conference Scholarship, $50, by the Orangeburg Conference.

Board of Trustees Scholarship, $50, by Trustees.

These scholarships are awarded at the discretion of the Faculty to students of high character and good scholarship, but of limited means.

For the Session of 1895–96, the scholarships were awarded as follows:

C. H. Suber Scholarships to J. F. Stilwell, class of 1898, and R. A. Abrams, class of 1897.

James Aiken Keller Scholarship to Willie Aiken Rast, class of 1899, and Rufus C. Banks, class of 1897.

PROFESSOR'S HOUSE. (Built by South Carolina Synod.)

NEEDS OF THE COLLEGE.

The design of Newberry College is to give deserving students of moderate means the best opportunity for thorough education and true culture. There are, however, many deserving young men, earnestly desiring to fit themselves for usefulness, who cannot meet even the small expenses of the College.

The College needs additional scholarships for assisting poor students. We earnestly ask that provision be made for other scholarships.

It is imperative, also, that the Endowment Fund of the College be largely increased. In this respect, it is just and reasonable that the College should be placed upon a firm basis.

The College needs physical and chemical apparatus, money and books for the Library, statues, pictures and other works of art, and specimens of all kinds for the Museum.

The Science Hall, which has been occupied during the session, adds much to the efficiency and usefulness of the College. It is handsomely finished, and would be a credit to any institution, but now a most keenly felt want is the necessary means with which to furnish and thoroughly equip the Museum and Laboratories. A great obstacle in the way of obtaining the highest success in the work of the scientific department is the insufficiency of geological and mineralogical specimens in the Museum and the lack of necessary apparatus in the chemical and physical laboratories. We again appeal to your generosity and beg that the new building, of which all friends of the College can justly be proud, may not be suffered to fall short of thorough equipment when the present emergency could easily be met by a little further exercise of your liberality.

FORMS OF BEQUEST.

I give and bequeath to the Trustees of Newberry College the sum of —— dollars, to be appropriated by the Trustees for the benefit of the College in such manner as in their discretion they shall think will be most useful.

I give and bequeath to the Trustees of Newberry College the sum of —— dollars, to be used by them in the purchase of books for the Library, of apparatus for the use of the College, or in such other manner as they shall deem expedient.

COLLEGIATE DEPARTMENT.

TIME AND CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION.

The regular examination for admission to the Freshman Class will be held on Friday of the week preceding Commencement. There will be a second examination on the first day of the first term. In special cases applicants may be examined at other times.

Candidates for advanced standing will be subjected to a general examination in the studies already pursued by the class they propose to enter. No student can be entered as a candidate for matriculation unless he can produce testimonials of good character.

Students who come from other colleges and bring certificates of admission in accordance with the established custom of colleges, may be admitted to corresponding standing in this College.

Candidates for the Freshman Class are often very deficient in the rudiments of an English education, as well as in the grammars of the Latin and Greek languages. Thorough preparatory training is necessary to enable students to pursue the prescribed College Courses with pleasure and profit.

For the Course for the Degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class are examined in the following subjects, but real equivalents of any of the following requirements will be accepted:

Latin—Grammar; Three Books of Cæsar's Gallic War.

Greek—Grammar; Reader, or Two Books of Xenophon's Anabasis.

Mathematics—Arithmetic; Algebra to Quadratics.

English—Grammar; Descriptive and Physical Geography; History of the United States.

For the Course for the Degree of Bachelor of Science.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class are examined in all the studies specified above, except Greek.

For Select Courses.

A student who wishes to pursue a select course without entering as a candidate for a Degree will be examined in such subjects as are preparatory to the studies which he desires to pursue in College.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

GOVERNMENT.

The College is under the supervision of a Board of Trustees.

The Students, in all the departments, are governed by the Faculty in accordance with regulations laid down by the Board of Trustees.

This government is of a mild but decided nature, and is generally effected:—

1st. By persistent and stringent efforts to develop and establish the strictest principles, and to awaken and stimulate an active interest in the daily exercises.

2nd. By honorable mention in the class-room, chapel, catalogue, and on public occasions.

3rd. By general and particular counsel from the President, whenever the same may be needed.

4th. By a system of demerits.

5th. By probation.

6th. By suspension.

7th. By expulsion as a last resort.

MATRICULATION.

Every student having completed his fourteenth year, and having a good record of deportment, is formally matriculated two weeks from the date of his admission.

REPORTS.

Reports respecting the conduct and scholarship of the students are sent to the parents and guardians at the close of each term. These show the number of absences from recitations, the class standing, and such other facts as may be deemed proper to communicate.

MORAL CULTURE.

All the students are required to be present at the religious exercises which are held every morning in the College Chapel, and to attend services in the College Church every Lord's Day, unless permitted to attend some other church designated by the parent or guardian.

THE COLLEGE YEAR.

The College year is divided into three terms. The first term begins on the first school day of October and ends the last day of December. The second term begins on the first school day of January and ends the last day of March. The third term begins on the first school day of April and ends with the Commencement.

EXAMINATIONS.

Examinations are held regularly at the end of each term; but any professor may appoint an examination at such other time as he may deem proper. All students are required to attend examinations. The examination is counted as a part of the work of the term in which it falls. Any student who is absent from an examination will be examined by special appointment of the professor in charge; and his connection with his class will be conditional until this has been done.

LIBRARIES.

The Library consists of about 7,000 volumes, to which all the students have access. Contributions are made from time to time by publishers and by friends of the College. Besides the College Library, there are libraries belonging to the two Literary Societies, reserved for the use of their respective members.

SIPLEY MUSEUM.

The collections already made are illustrative of Natural History, Archæology, Ethnology, and are arranged in such a way as to render them accessible to students and visitors. The College affords a secure depository for objects of value and curiosity, and it is, therefore, hoped that frequent gifts will be made the Cabinet and Museum.

READING ROOM.

The Reading Room connected with the College contains some of the best periodicals and newspapers of the day, kept on file for the use of the students.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

The Phrenakosmian and Excelsior Literary Societies meet weekly in large and elegantly furnished halls, in the main building. They afford their members an excellent opportunity to become acquainted with the orderly conduct of deliberative bodies, to acquire a knowledge of parliamentary law, and to improve in composition, debate and elocution. The Faculty is so much impressed with their educational value that every matriculated student is required to become a member of one of them.

Y. M. C. A.

There is an active Young Men's Christian Association in the College, which meets every Saturday night in the hall of the association. Bible classes are conducted every Sunday morning. The exercises are varied and calculated to foster a devotional spirit, to increase knowledge of the great interests of the Church, and to stimulate the efforts of the students in the formation of Christian character. A special feature of this association is a committee, whose business it is to meet new students upon their arrival at the railroad stations and to render them such advice and assistance as may be needed to make them comfortable in their new surroundings. The Faculty looks upon this association as a valuable aid in cultivating a spirit of good order among the students.

LOCATION.

Newberry, a healthy and beautiful town of about 5,000 inhabitants, is situated 42 miles northwest of Columbia, in one of the best sections of the State, and is easily accessible by rail. It is noted for the refinement and intelligence of its citizens. Six churches, excellent graded schools, three banks, and a large cotton factory are among the evidences of its life and growth. An artesian well furnishes an abundant supply of pure water, and the contract has been let for the construction of water works and an electric light plant, to be completed by July, 1897. Intermediate between the extreme northern and southern sections of the country, with a climate mild and healthful, this locality especially commends itself as a place of residence during the college session, embracing the winter months. The College buildings are in the midst of beautiful and extensive grounds on an eminence overlooking the town.

REMARKS.

The instructions and regulations of the College are such as to secure the application of the student to study, to shield him from the perils of temptation, and to promote a moral deportment. Parents sending their sons to Newberry College may do so with the assurance that everything will be done to promote their highest intellectual and moral training.

The deportment demanded of the students by the College authorities is that of refined Christian gentlemen.

Any violation of the obligations of morality, propriety or decorum, or any conduct incompatible with the peculiar duties of a student shall be an offense.

While the student's sense of right is expected to be a sufficient guide in the observance of the preceding rule, it will be the prerogative of the Faculty to define its scope in any particular case.

No student is allowed to leave the town during the session without the permission of the President, or to withdraw from the College without the consent of the Faculty, on the written authority of his parent or guardian.

It is highly important that students enter College at the beginning of the session. In some cases it is impossible to make up the loss occasioned by an absence of only a few days. In view of the injurious effects of all absences, either at the beginning or at any other period of the session, upon the standing and proficiency of the student, parents and guardians are earnestly requested not to encourage, or even sanction, any absence without urgent reasons.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

Scholarships have been founded as follows:

The C. H. Suber Scholarships, two, $68.75 each, by a bequest of C. H. Suber, Esq., Newberry, S. C.

For further information, address the President.

NEEDS OF THE COLLEGE.

The design of Newberry College is to give deserving students of moderate means the best opportunity for thorough education and true culture. There are, however, many deserving young men, earnestly desiring to fit themselves for usefulness, who cannot meet even the small expenses of the College.

The College needs additional scholarships for assisting poor students. We earnestly ask that provision be made for other scholarships.

It is imperative, also, that the Endowment Fund of the College be largely increased. In this respect, it is just and reasonable that the College should be placed upon a firm basis.

The College needs physical and chemical apparatus, money and books for the Library, statues, pictures and other works of art, and specimens of all kinds for the Museum.

The Science Hall adds much to the efficiency and usefulness of the College. It is handsomely finished, and would be a credit to any institution, but now a most keenly felt want is the necessary means with which to furnish and thoroughly equip the Museum and Laboratories. A great obstacle in the way of obtaining the highest success in the work of the scientific department is the insufficiency of geological and mineralogical specimens in the Museum and the lack of necessary apparatus in the chemical and physical laboratories. We again appeal to your generosity and beg that the new building, of which all friends of the College can justly be proud, may not be suffered to fall short of thorough equipment when the present emergency could easily be met by a little further exercise of your liberality.

A FRONT VIEW OF CAMPUS

HISTORICAL STATEMENT.

The effort of the Lutherans of South Carolina to found an institution of learning first took definite shape in the year 1828, when the Rev. Dr. John Bachman, President of the Synod of South Carolina and Adjacent States, recommended the founding of such an institution, to be under the fostering care of the Synod. In the following year, 1829, a committee was appointed to receive subscriptions for the establishment and support of a theological seminary. The work of this committee was so successful that, in 1830, the Synod decided to establish a theological seminary, and to have connected with it a classical academy. A board of directors was at once elected; and, thus, in faith and prayer, was founded the institution which was located at Lexington in 1832, and which was known for twenty-five years as the Classical and Theological Institute of the South Carolina Synod.

In 1854, the Institution being "in a languishing condition", the Synod decided to remove it to "a more eligible situation", and to secure a charter constituting it a regular college with the power to confer degrees. Proposals for the new location were received from Newberry and Walhalla, and in 1855 Newberry was chosen as the location.

Newberry College was chartered by the State Legislature December 20th, 1856. The first meeting of the Board of Trustees was held January 13th, 1857, and the contract was let for the erection of the college building for the sum of $18,000. The corner-stone was laid July 15th, 1857.

The preparatory department was opened in October, 1858, and the college proper in February, 1859. The session of 1859–60 opened with 150 students, and during the year the number increased to 175. At the beginning of the Civil War the College seemed firmly established, and its prospects were bright. But the war blighted these prospects. Many of the students enlisted for service in the Confederate army; and, though the school was kept open, the College was practically broken up. In the summer of 1865 the college building was occupied by a Federal garrison. Owing to damage done by this garrison, and to the inability of Synod to make timely repairs, the building was soon regarded as unsafe and unfit for occupancy.

The last meeting of the Board of Trustees before the removal of the College from Newberry, was held on the 25th of June, 1868. The College had been continued with two professors and a tutor, but matters were most discouraging. The building was falling down; the creditors of the College were demanding payment of their claims; and judgments had been obtained against the property. At this crisis an offer was received from Walhalla; and the College was, by action of Synod, moved to that place in October, 1868.

It did not prosper in its new home; and in 1876 an effort was made by the people of Newberry to bring it back to that place. At a called meeting of Synod, April, 1877, an offer of $15,800 from citizens of Newberry was accepted; and in October, 1877, the College was again opened in Newberry. The main building was ready for occupancy in the spring of 1878. Within the last ten years three professors' houses, a boarding hall, and the Keller Memorial Building have been erected on the campus. In the Memorial Building are the science department, the museum, the library, and the chapel.

The Board of Trustees, at the annual meeting in June, 1897, made an innovation by opening the college classes to young ladies who reside with their parents or friends who are responsible for their care when not on the college premises. The young ladies recite with the regular classes; but, when not reciting, they occupy rooms in the home of a private family near the College.

The theological department was at intervals and for many years connected with the College; but in 1898 the Theological Seminary was removed to Mt. Pleasant, Charleston, S. C. The College is under the control of Synod, and it stands for Christian culture, but sectarian instruction is not given. Under the blessings of Providence it is prospering, and its field of usefulness is widening.

The College has had many faithful friends whose names cannot be mentioned here; but it is proper to name two who, by conspicuous devotion and self-sacrifice, contributed largely to its success, and who now rest from their labors. They are the Rev J. P. Smeltzer, D. D., President from 1861 to 1877, and the Rev. G. W. Holland, D. D., Ph. D., President from 1878 to 1895.

COLLEGIATE DEPARTMENT.

TIME AND CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION.

The regular examination for admission to the Freshman Class will be held on Friday of the week preceding commencement. There will be a second examination on the first day of the first term. In special cases applicants may be examined at other times.

Candidates for advanced standing will be subjected to a general examination in the studies already pursued by the class they propose to enter. No student can be entered as a candidate for matriculation unless he can produce testimonials of good character.

Students who come from other colleges and bring certificates of admission in accordance with the established custom of colleges may be admitted to corresponding standing in this College.

Candidates for the Freshman Class are often very deficient in the rudiments of an English education, as well as in the grammars of the Latin and Greek languages. Thorough preparatory training is necessary to enable students to pursue the prescribed college courses with pleasure and profit.

For the Course for the Degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class are examined in the following subjects, but real equivalents of any of the following requirements will be accepted:

Latin—Grammar; Three Books of Cæsar's Gallic War.

Greek—Grammar; Reader, or Two Books of Xenophon's Anabasis.

Mathematics—Arithmetic; Algebra to Quadratics.

English—Grammar; Descriptive and Physical Geography; History of the United States.

For the Course for the Degree of Bachelor of Science.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class are examined in all the studies specified above, except Greek.

For Select Courses.

A student who wishes to pursue a select course without entering as a candidate for a degree will be examined in such subjects as are preparatory to the studies which he desires to pursue in college.

Dr. O. B. Mayer, of Newberry, offers a prize of ten dollars in books to that Freshman who shall stand the best examination for admission into the Sophomore Class.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

Entrance.

It is highly important that students enter college at the beginning of the session. In some cases it is impossible to make up the loss occasioned by an absence of only a few days. In view of the injurious effects of absences, either at the beginning or at any other period of the session, upon the standing and proficiency of the student, parents and guardians are earnestly requested not to encourage, or even sanction, any absence without urgent reasons.

Matriculation.

Every student fourteen years of age, who has a good record in deportment, is formally matriculated two weeks after the date of his admission.

Reports.

Reports respecting the conduct and scholarship of the students are sent to the parents and guardians at the close of each term. These show the number of absences from recitations, the class standing, and such other facts as may be deemed proper to communicate.

Moral Culture.

All the students are required to be present at the religious exercises which are held every morning in the College Chapel, and to attend services in the College Church every Lord's Day, unless permitted to attend some other church designated by the parent or guardian.

The College Year.

The college year is divided into three terms. The first term begins on the first school day of October and ends the last day of December. The second term begins on the first school day of January and ends the last day of March. The third term begins on the first school day of April and ends with the Commencement.

Examinations.

Examinations are held regularly at the end of each term; but any professor may appoint an examination at such other time as he may deem proper. All students are required to attend examinations. The examination is counted as a part of the work of the term in which it falls. Any student who is absent from an examination will be examined by special appointment of the professor in charge; and his connection with his class will be conditional until this has been done.

Libraries.

The Library contains about 8,000 volumes, to which all the students have access. Contributions are made from time to time by publishers and by friends of the College. Besides the College Library, there are libraries belonging to the two Literary Societies, reserved for the use of their respective members. The total number of volumes to which the students have access exceeds 10,000. The Library is open every day except Sunday.

Sifley Museum.

The collections already made are illustrative of Natural History, Archæology, Ethnology, and are arranged in such a way as to render them accessible to students and visitors. The College affords a secure depository for objects of value and curiosity, and it is, therefore, hoped that frequent gifts will be made to the Cabinet and Museum.

Reading Room.

The Reading Room connected with the College contains some of the best periodicals and newspapers of the day, kept on file for the use of the students.

Literary Societies.

The Phrenakosmian and Excelsior Literary Societies, which were organized in 1859, have large and elegantly furnished halls, in the main building. The Philomathian Literary Society was organized by the young ladies of the College last session. The societies meet weekly. They afford their members an excellent opportunity to become acquainted with the orderly conduct of deliberative bodies, to acquire a knowledge of parliamentary law, and to improve in composition, debate, and elocution. The Faculty is so much impressed with their educational value that every matriculated student is required to become a member of one of them.

Y. M. C. A.

There is an active Young Men's Christian Association in the College, which meets every Saturday night in the hall of the association. Bible classes are conducted every Sunday morning. The exercises are varied and calculated to foster a devotional spirit, to increase knowledge of the great interests of the church, and to stimulate the efforts of the students in the formation of Christian character. A special feature of this association is a committee, whose business it is to meet new students upon their arrival at the railroad stations and to render them such advice and assistance as may be needed to make them comfortable in their new surroundings. The Faculty looks upon this association as a valuable aid in cultivating a spirit of good order among the students.

Location.

Newberry, a progressive and beautiful town of about 5,000 inhabitants, is situated 42 miles northwest of Columbia, in one of the best sections of the State, and is easily accessible by rail. It is noted for the refinement and intelligence of its citizens. Six churches, excellent graded schools, three banks, a large cotton factory, and an electric light plant are among the evidences of its life and growth. An artesian well furnishes an abundant supply of pure water. Intermediate between the extreme northern and southern sections of the country, with a climate mild and heathful, this locality especially commends itself as a place of residence during the college session, embracing the winter months. The college buildings are in the midst of beautiful and extensive grounds on an eminence overlooking the town.

Government.

The College is under the supervision of a Board of Trustees. The students, in all the departments, are governed by the Faculty in accordance with regulations laid down by the Board of Trustees.

This government is of a mild but decided nature, and is generally effected:—

1st. By persistent and stringent efforts to develop and establish the strictest principles, and to awaken and stimulate an active interest in the daily exercises.

2nd. By honorable mention in the class room, chapel, catalogue, and on public occasions.

3rd. By general and particular counsel from the President.

4th. By a system of demerits.

5th. By probation.

6th. By suspension.

7th. By expulsion as a last resort.

The deportment demanded of the students by the college authorities is that of refined Christian gentlemen.

Any violation of the obligations of morality, propriety or decorum, or any conduct incompatible with the peculiar duties of a student shall be an offense.

While the student's sense of right is expected to be a sufficient guide in the observance of the preceding rule, it will be the prerogative of the Faculty to define its scope in any particular case.

No student is allowed to leave the town during the session without the permission of the President, or to withdraw from the College without the consent of the Faculty, on the written authority of his parent or guardian.

Scholarships.

Scholarships have been founded as follows:

The C. H. Suber Scholarships, two, $68.75 each, by a bequest of C. H. Suber, Esq., Newberry, S. C.

The James Aiken Keller Scholarship, $70, by Mrs. Frances E. Keller, of Orangeburg County, S. C.

The Robert L. McCaughrin Scholarship, $70, by O. B. Mayer, M. D., Newberry, S. C.

The Orangeburg Conference Scholarship, $50, by the Orangeburg Conference.

Two Board of Trustees Scholarships, $80, by Trustees.

The Patrick E. Wise Scholarship, $40, by the children of Maj. P. E. Wise.

The Alumni Scholarship, $40, by the Alumni Association.

These scholarships are awarded at the discretion of the Faculty to students of high character and good scholarship, but of limited means. The friends of the College are urged to make provision for other scholarships and thereby to aid in bringing the advantages of the College within the reach of deserving young men of moderate means.

HISTORICAL STATEMENT.

The efforts of the Lutherans of South Carolina to found an institution of learning first took definite shape in the year 1828, when the Rev. Dr. John Bachman, President of the Synod of South Carolina and Adjacent States, recommended the founding of such an institution, to be under the fostering care of the Synod. In the following year, 1829, a committee was appointed to receive subscriptions for the establishment and support of a theological seminary. The work of this committee was so successful that, in 1830, the Synod decided to establish a theological seminary, and to have connected with it a classical academy. A board of directors was at once elected; and thus, in faith and prayer, was founded the institution which was located at Lexington in 1832, and which was known for twenty-five years as the Classical and Theological Institute of the South Carolina Synod.

In 1854, the Institution being "in a languishing condition", the Synod decided to remove it to "a more eligible situation", and to secure a charter constituting it a regular college with the power to confer degrees. Proposals for the new location were received from Newberry and Walhalla, and in 1855 Newberry was chosen as the location.

Newberry College was chartered by the State Legislature December 20th, 1856. The first meeting of the Board of Trustees was held January 13th, 1857, and the contract was let for the erection of the college building for the sum of $18,000. The corner-stone was laid July 15th, 1857.

The preparatory department was opened in October, 1858, and the college proper in February, 1859. The session of 1859–60 opened with 150 students, and during the year the number increased to 175. At the beginning of the Civil War the college seemed firmly established, and its prospects were bright; but the war blighted these prospects. Many of the students enlisted for service in the Confederate army; and, though the school was kept open, the college was practically broken up. In the summer of 1865 the college building was occupied by a Federal garrison. Owing to damage done by this garrison, and to the inability of Synod to make timely repairs, the building was soon regarded as unsafe and unfit for occupancy.

The last meeting of the Board of Trustees before the removal of the college from Newberry, was held on the 25th of June, 1868. The college had been continued with two professors and a tutor, but matters were most discouraging. The building was falling down, creditors were demanding payment of their claims, and judgments had been obtained against the property. At this crisis an offer was received from Walhalla; and the college was, by action of Synod, moved to that place in October, 1868.

It did not prosper in its new home; and in 1876 an effort was made by the people of Newberry to bring it back to that place. At a called meeting of Synod, April, 1877, an offer of $15,800 from citizens of Newberry was accepted; and in October, 1877, the college was again opened in Newberry. The main building was ready for occupancy in the spring of 1878. Within the last ten years three professors' houses, a boarding hall, and the Keller Memorial Building have been erected on the campus.

The Board of Trustees, at the annual meeting in June, 1897, made an innovation by opening the college classes to young ladies who reside with their parents or friends who are responsible for their care when not on the college premises. The young ladies recite with the regular classes; but, when not reciting, they occupy rooms in the home of a private family near the college.

The theological department was at intervals and for many years connected with the college; but in 1898 the Theological Seminary was removed to Mt. Pleasant, Charleston, S. C. The college is under the control of Synod, and it stands for Christian culture, but sectarian instruction is not given. Under the blessings of Providence it is prospering, and its field of usefulness is widening.

It has had many faithful friends whose names cannot be mentioned here; but it is proper to name two who, by conspicuous devotion and self-sacrifice, contributed largely to its success, and who now rest from their labors. They are the Rev. J. P. Smeltzler, D. D., President from 1861 to 1877, and the Rev. G. W. Holland, D. D., Ph. D., President from 1878 to 1895.

COLLEGIATE DEPARTMENT.

TIME AND CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION.

The regular examination for admission to the Freshman Class will be held on Friday of the week preceding commencement. There will be a second examination on the first day of the first term. In special cases, applicants may be examined at other times.

Candidates for advanced standing will be subjected to a general examination in the studies already pursued by the class they propose to enter. No student will be entered as a candidate for matriculation unless he can produce testimonials of good character.

Students who come from other colleges and bring certificates of admission in accordance with the established custom of colleges may be admitted to corresponding standing in this college.

Candidates for the Freshman Class are often very deficient in the rudiments of an English education, as well as in the grammars of the Latin and Greek languages. Thorough preparatory training is necessary to enable students to pursue the prescribed college courses with pleasure and profit.

For the Course for the Degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class are examined in the following subjects, but real equivalents of any of the following requirements will be accepted:

Latin—Grammar; Three Books of Cæsar's Gallic War.

Greek—Grammar; Reader, or Two Books of Xenophon's Anabasis.

Mathematics—Arithmetic; Algebra to Quadratics.

English—Grammar; Descriptive and Physical Geography; History of the United States.

For the Course for the Degree of Bachelor of Science.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class are examined in all the studies specified above, except Greek.

For Select Courses.

A student who wishes to pursue a select course without entering as a candidate for a degree will be examined in such subjects as are preparatory to the studies which he desires to pursue in college.

Dr. O. B. Mayer, of Newberry, offers a prize of ten dollars in books to that Freshman who shall stand the best examination for admission into the Sophomore Class.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

Entrance.

It is highly important that students enter college at the beginning of the session. In some cases it is impossible to make up the loss occasioned by an absence of only a few days. In view of the injurious effects of absences, either at the beginning or at any other period of the session, upon the standing and proficiency of the student, parents and guardians are earnestly requested not to encourage, or even sanction, any absence without urgent reasons.

Matriculation.

Every student fourteen years of age, who has a good record in deportment, is formally matriculated two weeks after the date of his admission.

Reports.

Reports respecting the conduct and scholarship of the students are sent to the parents and guardians at the close of each term. These show the number of absences from recitations, the class standing, and such other facts as may be deemed proper to communicate.

Moral Culture.

All the students are required to be present at the religious exercises which are held every morning in the College Chapel, and to attend services in the College Church every Lord's Day, unless permitted to attend some other church designated by the parent or guardian.

The College Year.

The college year is divided into three terms. The first term begins on the first school day of October and ends the last day of December. The second term begins on the first school day of January and ends the last day of March. The third term begins on the first school day of April and ends with the Commencement.

Examinations.

Examinations are held regularly at the end of each term; but any professor may appoint an examination at such other time as he may deem proper. All students are required to attend examinations. The examination is counted as a part of the work of the term in which it falls. Any student who is absent from an examination will be examined by special appointment of the professor in charge; and his connection with his class will be conditional until this has been done.

Libraries.

The Library contains about 8,000 volumes, to which all the students have access. Contributions are made from time to time by publishers and by friends of the college. Besides the College Library, there are libraries belonging to the two Literary Societies, reserved for the use of their respective members. The total number of volumes to which the students have access exceeds 10,000. The Library is open every day except Sunday.

Sifley Museum.

The collections already made are illustrative of Natural History, Archæology, Ethnology, and are arranged in such a way as to render them accessible to students and visitors. The college affords a secure depository for objects of value and curiosity, and it is, therefore, hoped that frequent gifts will be made to the Cabinet and Museum.

Reading Room.

The Reading Room connected with the college contains many of the best periodicals and newspapers of the day, kept on file for the use of the students.

Literary Societies.

The Phrenakosmian and Excelsior Literary Societies, which were organized in 1859, have large and elegantly furnished halls, in the main building. The Philomathian Literary Society was organized by the young ladies of the college in 1897. The societies meet weekly. They afford their members an excellent opportunity to become acquainted with the orderly conduct of deliberative bodies, to acquire a knowledge of parliamentary law, and to improve in composition, debate, and elocution. The Faculty is so much impressed with their educational value that every matriculated student is required to become a member of one of them.

Y. M. C. A.

There is an active Young Men's Christian Association in the college, which meets every Saturday night in the hall of the association. Bible classes are conducted every Sunday morning. The exercises are varied and calculated to foster a devotional spirit, to increase knowledge of the great interests of the church, and to stimulate the efforts of the students in the formation of Christian character. A special feature of this association is a committee, whose business it is to meet new students upon their arrival at the railroad stations and to render them such advice and assistance as may be needed to make them comfortable in their new surroundings. The Faculty looks upon this association as a valuable aid in cultivating a spirit of good order among the students.

Location.

Newberry, a progressive and beautiful town of about 5,000 inhabitants, is situated 42 miles northwest of Columbia, in one of the best sections of the State, and is easily accessible by rail. It is noted for the refinement and intelligence of its citizens. Six churches, excellent graded schools, three banks, a large cotton factory, and an electric light plant are among the evidences of its life and growth. An artesian well furnishes an abundant supply of pure water. Intermediate between the extreme northern and southern sections of the country, with a climate mild and healthful, this locality especially commends itself as a place of residence during the college session, embracing the winter months. The college buildings are in the midst of beautiful and extensive grounds on an eminence overlooking the town.

Government.

The college is under the supervision of a Board of Trustees.

The students, in all the departments, are governed by the Faculty in accordance with regulations laid down by the Board of Trustees.

This government is of a mild but decided nature, and is generally effected:—

1st. By persistent and stringent efforts to develop and establish the strictest principles, and to awaken and stimulate an active interest in the daily exercises.

2nd. By honorable mention in the class room, chapel, catalogue, and on public occasions.

3rd. By general and particular counsel from the President.

4th. By a system of demerits.

5th. By probation.

6th. By suspension.

7th. By expulsion as a last resort.

The deportment demanded of the students by the college authorities is that of refined Christian gentlemen.

Any violation of the obligations of morality, propriety or decorum, or any conduct incompatible with the peculiar duties of a student, shall be an offense.

While the student's sense of right is expected to be a sufficient guide in the observance of the preceding rule, it will be the prerogative of the Faculty to define its scope in any particular case.

No student is allowed to leave the town during the session without the permission of the President, or to withdraw from the college without the consent of the Faculty, on the written authority of his parent or guardian.

Scholarships.

Scholarships have been founded as follows:

The C. H. Suber Scholarships, two, $68.75 each, by a bequest of C. H. Suber, Esq., Newberry, S. C.

The James Aiken Keller Scholarship, $70, by Mrs. Frances E. Keller, of Orangeburg County, S. C.

The Robert L. McCaughrin Scholarship, $70, by O. B. Mayer, M. D., Newberry, S. C.

The Orangeburg Conference Scholarship, $50, by the Orangeburg Conference.

Two Board of Trustees Scholarships, $80, by Trustees.

The Patrick E. Wise Scholarship, $40, by the children of Maj. P. E. Wise.

The Alumni Scholarship, $40, by the Alumni Association.

These scholarships are awarded at the discretion of the Faculty to students of high character and good scholarship, but of limited means. The friends of the college are urged to make provision for other scholarships, and thereby to aid in bringing the advantages of the college within the reach of deserving young men of moderate means.

HISTORICAL STATEMENT.

The efforts of the Lutherans of South Carolina to found an institution of learning first took definite shape in the year 1828, when the Rev. Dr. John Bachman, President of the Synod of South Carolina and Adjacent States, recommended the founding of such an institution, to be under the fostering care of the Synod. In the following year, 1829, a committee was appointed to receive subscriptions for the establishment and support of a theological seminary. The work of this committee was so successful that in 1830 the Synod decided to establish a theological seminary, and to have connected with it a classical academy. A board of directors was at once elected; and thus, in faith and prayer, was founded the institution which was located at Lexington in 1832, and which was known for twenty-five years as the Classical and Theological Institute of the South Carolina Synod.

In 1854, the Institution being "in a languishing condition", the Synod decided to remove it to "a more eligible situation", and to secure a charter constituting it a regular college with the power to confer degrees. Proposals for the new location were received from Newberry and Walhalla, and in 1855 Newberry was chosen as the location.

Newberry College was chartered by the State Legislature December 20th, 1856. The first meeting of the Board of Trustees was held January 13th, 1857, and the contract was let for the erection of the college building for the sum of $18,000. The corner-stone was laid July 15th, 1857.

The preparatory department was opened in October, 1858, and the college proper in February, 1859. The session of 1859–60 opened with 150 students, and during the year the number increased to 175. At the beginning of the Civil War the college seemed firmly established, and its prospects were bright; but the war blighted these prospects. Many of the students enlisted for service in the Confederate army; and, though the school was kept open, the college was practically broken up. In the summer of 1865 the college building was occupied by a Federal garrison. Owing to damage done by this garrison, and to the inability of Synod to make timely repairs, the building was soon regarded as unsafe and unfit for occupancy.

The last meeting of the Board of Trustees before the removal of the college from Newberry, was held on the 25th of June, 1868. The college had been continued with two professors and a tutor, but matters were most discouraging. The building was falling down, creditors were demanding payment of their claims, and judgments had been obtained against the property. At this crisis an offer was received from Walhalla; and the college was, by action of Synod, moved to that place in October, 1868.

It did not prosper in its new home; and in 1876 an effort was made by the people of Newberry to bring it back to this place. At a called meeting of Synod, April 1877, an offer of $15,800 from citizens of Newberry was accepted; and in October, 1877, the college was again opened in Newberry. The main building was ready for occupancy in the spring of 1878. Within the last ten or twelve years three professors' houses, a boarding hall, and the Keller Memorial Building have been erected on the campus.

A theological department was at intervals and for many years connected with the college; but in 1898 the Theological Seminary was removed to Mt. Pleasant, Charleston, S. C. The college is under the control of Synod, and it stands for Christian culture, but sectarian instruction is not given. Under the blessings of Providence it is prospering, and its field of usefulness is widening.

It has had many faithful friends whose names cannot be recorded here; but it is proper to mention two who, by conspicuous devotion and self-sacrifice, contributed largely to its success, and who now rest from their labors. They are the Rev. J. P. Smeltzer, D. D., President from 1861 to 1877, and the Rev. G. W. Holland, D. D., Ph. D., President from 1878 to 1895.

COLLEGIATE DEPARTMENT.

TIME AND CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION.

The regular examination for admission to the Freshman Class will be held on Friday of the week preceding commencement. There will be a second examination on the first day of the first term. In special cases, applicants may be examined at other times.

Candidates for advanced standing will be subjected to a general examination in the studies already pursued by the class they propose to enter. No student will be entered as a candidate for matriculation unless he can produce testimonials of good character.

Students who come from other colleges and bring certificates of admission in accordance with the established custom of colleges may be admitted to corresponding standing in this college.

Candidates for the Freshman Class are often very deficient in the rudiments of an English education, as well as in the grammars of the Latin and Greek languages. Thorough preparatory training is necessary to enable students to pursue the prescribed college courses with pleasure and profit.

For the Course for the Degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class are examined in the following subjects, but real equivalents of any of the following requirements will be accepted:

Latin—Grammar; Three Books of Cæsar's Gallic War.

Greek—Grammar; Reader, or Two Books of Xenophon's Anabasis.

Mathematics—Arithmetic; Algebra to Quadratics.

English—Grammar; Descriptive and Physical Geography, History of the United States.

For the Course for the Degree of Bachelor of Science.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class are examined in all the studies specified above, except Greek.

For Select Courses.

A student who wishes to pursue a select course without entering as a candidate for a degree will be examined in such subjects as are preparatory to the studies which he desires to pursue in college.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

Entrance.

It is highly important that students enter college at the beginning of the session. In some cases it is impossible to make up the loss occasioned by an absence of only a few days. In view of the injurious effects of absences, either at the beginning or at any other period of the session, upon the standing and proficiency of the student, parents and guardians are earnestly requested not to encourage, or even sanction, any absence without urgent reasons.

Matriculation.

Every student fourteen years of age, who has a good record in deportment, is formally matriculated two weeks after the date of his admission.

Co-Education.

The college has not adopted co-education as a scheme, but in 1897 the Board of Trustees decided to open the college classes to young ladies who reside with their parents or friends, the Faculty being responsible for their care only while they are at the college. They recite with the regular classes, but between recitations they occupy rooms in a private home near the college.

Reports.

Reports respecting the conduct and scholarship of the students are sent to the parents and guardians at the close of each term. These show the number of absences from recitations, the class standing, and such other facts as may be deemed proper to communicate.

Moral Culture.

All the students are required to be present at the religious exercises which are held every morning in the college chapel, and to attend services in the college church every Lord's Day, unless permitted to attend some other church designated by the parent or guardian.

The College Year.

The college year is divided into three terms. The first term begins on the first school day of October and ends the last day of December. The second term begins on the first school day of January and ends the last day of March. The third term begins on the first school day of April and ends with the Commencement.

Examinations.

Examinations are held regularly at the end of each term; but any professor may appoint an examination at such other time as he may deem proper. All students are required to attend examinations. The examination is counted as a part of the wo.k of the term in which it falls. Any student who is absent from an examination will be examined by special appointment of the professor in charge; and his connection with his class will be conditional until this has been done.

Libraries.

The library contains about 8,000 volumes, to which all the students have access. Contributions are made from time to time by publishers and friends of the college. Besides the college library, there are libraries belonging to the two literary societies, reserved for the use of their respective members. The total number of volumes to which the students have access exceeds 10,000. The library is open every day except Sunday.

Sifley Museum.

The collections already made are illustrative of Natural History, Archæology, Ethnology, and are arranged in such a way as to render them accessible to students and visitors. The college affords a secure depository for objects of value and curiosity, and it is, therefore, hoped that frequent gifts will be made to the cabinet and museum.

Reading Room.

The reading room connected with the college contains many of the best periodicals and newspapers of the day, kept on file for the use of the students.

Literary Societies.

The Phrenakosmian and Excelsior Literary Societies, which were organized in 1859, have large and elegantly furnished halls, in the main building. The Philomathian Literary Society was organized by the young ladies of the college in 1897. The societies meet weekly. They afford their members an excellent opportunity to become acquainted with the orderly conduct of deliberative bodies, to acquire a knowledge of parliamentary law, and to improve in composition, debate, and elocution. The Faculty is so much impressed with their educational value that every matriculated student is required to become a member of one of them.

Y. M. C. A.

There is an active Young Men's Christian Association in the college, which meets every Saturday night in the hall of the association. Bible classes are conducted every Sunday morning. The exercises are varied and calculated to foster a devotional spirit, to increase knowledge of the great interests of the church, and to stimulate the efforts of the students in the formation of Christian character. A special featue of this association is a committee, whose business it is to meet new students upon their arrival at the railroad stations and to render them such advice and assistance as may be needed to make them comfortable in their new surroundings. The Faculty looks upon this association as a valuable aid in cultivating a spirit of good order among the students.

Location.

Newberry, a progressive and beautiful town of about 5,000 inhabitants, is situated 42 miles northwest of Columbia, in one of the best sections of the State, and is easily accessible by rail. It is noted for the refinement and intelligence of its citizens. Six churches, excellent graded schools, three banks, a large cotton factory, and an electric light plant are among the evidences of its life and growth. An artesian well furnishes an abundant supply of pure water. Intermediate between the extreme northern and southern sections of the country, with a climate mild and heathful, this locality especially commends itself as a place of residence during the college session, embracing the winter months. The college buildings are in the midst of beautiful and extensive grounds on an eminence overlooking the town.

Government.

The college is under the supervision of a Board of Trustees. The students, in all the departments, are governed by the Faculty in accordance with regulations laid down by the Board of Trustees.

This government is of a mild, but decided nature, and is generally effected :—

1st. By persistent and stringent efforts to develop and establish the strictest principles, and to awaken and stimulate an active interest in the daily exercises.

2nd. By honorable mention in the class room, chapel, catalogue, and on public occasions.

3rd. By general and particular counsel from the President.

4th. By a system of demerits.

5th. By probation.

6th. By suspension.

7th. By expulsion as a last resort.

The deportment demanded of the students by the college authorities is that of refined Christian gentlemen.

Any violation of the obligations of morality, propriety or decorum, or any conduct incompatible with the peculiar duties of a student, shall be an offense.

While the student's sense of right is expected to be a sufficient guide in the observance of the preceding rule, it will be the prerogative of the Faculty to define its scope in any particular case.

No student is allowed to leave the town during the session without the permission of the President, or to withdraw from the college without the consent of the Faculty, on the written authority of his parent or guardian.
